THE GREENSBORO TELEGRAM

ESTABLISHED IN 1897. GREENSBORO, N. C., SUNDAY MORNING, JUNE 18, 1911. VOL. 14. NO. 275.

YOUNG MAN JAILED ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Caleb Hanes Arrested For Seduction—Probable That Warrant Will be Amended to Charge Criminal Assault on Miss Faucete, Daughter of Well Known Madison Township Farmer.

Caleb Hanes, a young white man 23 years of age, who refuses to say where he hails from further than to say that he came here from the mountains, is in Guilford jail on the charge of seduction under promise of marriage and it is more than probable that the warrant will be amended, or a new one drawn, charging him with criminal assault. Hanes was arrested yesterday afternoon on a warrant sworn out by his victim, Miss Faucette, daughter of a prominent citizen of the Brown Summit neighborhood. He was carried before Justice Richard Moore, but the case was removed and will be tried before Justice Collins Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

The crime was committed on last Sunday or Sunday night, since which time Hanes has been in hiding around the vicinity of his crime, to the terror of the entire neighborhood. Yesterday afternoon Deputy Mitchell phoned to Sheriff Jones' office that the fugitive was in the neighborhood and Deputies Weatherly, Shaw and Crutchfield hopped into an automobile and were soon on the scene. Piloted by Deputy Mitchell they soon ran across Hanes in the edge of a piece of woods and he offered no resistance.

Hanes came to Guilford about four months ago and secured employment at a sawmill in the Brown Summit neighborhood, boarding at the home of Miss Faucette's parents, on the Brown Summit road. On last Sunday he enticed Miss Faucette away from home and kept her away until Monday morning. Immediately upon her return she informed her people of the crime and swore out a warrant against Hanes, charging seduction. The warrant was placed in the hands of Deputy Mitchell, but the fugitive could not be found, despite the fact that he remained in the vicinity. The people of the community were afraid of him and for this reason would not attempt his capture.

Since his capture it is understood that the victim's testimony will tend to show that Hanes is guilty of criminal assault, the penalty for which is death, instead of seduction. According to a statement made by the young lady Hanes drew a revolver on her and threatened to kill her if she made an outcry during the process of the heinous crime.

If the warrant is changed to criminal assault this will make a capital case to be tried during the term of court next week.

As stated above the people of the community were all afraid of Hanes and it was a considerable relief to them to see him in custody yesterday afternoon. A curious coincidence and one that will probably be used as testimony against Hanes is the fact that the sawmill at which he formerly worked was burned Friday night. The employees of the mill had been deputized on Friday to effect the arrest of Hanes if he came within reach and the burning of the mill is quite suspicious. Hanes is a strong heavy built young fellow and has a mean disposition. The officers are of the opinion that he is wanted elsewhere and for this reason will not tell where he is from.

CORONATION FESTIVITIES IN FULL SWAY

London, June 17.—The coronation festivities were fully inaugurated today with the return of the King and Queen to Buckingham Palace from Windsor and functions will crowd one another until July 1. John Hayes Hammond, special ambassador from the United States, will make his official entry into London Monday at noon, coming from a week end in the country. The Duke of Connaught, representing King George, will meet him at the Victoria station with a staff especially appointed to attend the American envoy during his mission.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION AT BATTLE GROUND

Plans Are Maturing Nicely For Annual Event—Col. Cyrus Watson to Deliver Memorial Oration in Honor of Maj. Morehead—Flag to be Presented.

President Schenck, of the Guilford Battle Ground Company, states that the plans for the annual celebration on July Fourth are maturing nicely and the outlook is for the biggest celebration in the history of the company.

One of the features of the program will be the presentation of a reproduction of the battle-flag carried by Greene's army during the battle, this being the gift of the North Carolina Sons of the American Revolution. The address will likely be by DeLancy Haywood, of Raleigh, while A. M. Scales will accept the flag for the company.

Cyrus B. Watson, a life-long friend of the late president of the Battle Ground Company, has consented to deliver a memorial oration in honor of Maj. Jos. M. Morehead, for which task no man is better equipped than Col. Watson.

It is highly probable that one or more administration officials from Washington will be present and make an address.

S. Glenn Brown has been chosen chief marshal and he will lead a procession in which the Gate City Guards, The Boy Scouts, and others will parade. The grounds have been much improved and beautified during the past year and the place is becoming more and more a delightful spot for a day's outing. The Southern Railway will operate as heretofore the special train service between Greensboro and the Battle Ground.

Another week of fun is promised at the Park Theatre this week, for the Wills Musical Comedy Company has been re-engaged to appear in "Sweet Sixteen" and "The Chorus Girl" with a full cast and special scenery that go to make the production a success.

Last week the Wills Company completely captured the Greensboro amusement lovers with their clever productions. Mrs. Wills adds Mr. Osborne an acrobatic comedian to his already talented company.

The largest and most appreciative audience of the season enjoyed last night's performance.

Nine members of the Junior Brotherhood, a young but thriving organization created during last winter from among the boys and young men of Holy Trinity church, will leave tomorrow morning for a week's outing at Johnson's pond, about 18 miles southwest of the city.

The boys are planning to get an early start for the long trip and will leave the city in wagons about 5 o'clock in the morning. They expect to return Saturday night after spending six days, crowded full of fishing, swimming and boating expeditions. A quantity of provisions has been purchased and tents provided to feed and house the crowd.

STADIEM'S STORE AGAIN BURGLARIZED ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Once again has the store of B. Stadiem been robbed. For about the thousand-and-first time, according to Stadiem, thieves have victimized the old man, who conducts a clothing store on South Elm. For years he and his property have been a favorite mark among evil-dores and his store has been burglarized regularly.

Friday night thieves entered the store from a rear window by prying off several bars secured from the inside. Although this section was thoroughly patroled during the night by policemen no suspicious sound was heard about the building at any time. Yesterday when the proprietor entered the store he quickly perceived that it had been ransacked. Several shoe boxes were lying scattered about the place where the thieves had left them after examining their contents. From the cash drawers about $7 in small change was found to be missing. A few other articles of merchandise was also carried away. The police are working on the case but have not yet reached any conclusion as to the identity of the party or parties guilty, as no clue was left by them. However, the force exxpects to make an arrest soon as the persons who accomplish these petty robberies are pretty apt to break into some other store shortly.

NOTES FROM OAK RIDGE.

Oak Ridge, June 17.—Prof. J. Allen Holt is spending a few days at Atlantic City, recuperating. He is expected home in a week or ten days.

Prof. E. P. Holt is engaged in farming during this summer. He has persistently refused to manage any baseball team this season.

J. Harvey Holt is making a fine record as a baseball player in the Southeastern league, at Rome, Ga. He is hitting around three hundred, and his fielding is fine.

Preparations are on foot for the overhauling and repainting of the institute buildings during the summer vacation.

Large numbers are here availing themselves of the special June offer in the Southern Automobile College. Among them we notice here students from Trinity College, Guilford College, and other well known schools; there is also a high school principal here fitting himself for the automobile business.

MEMORIAL SERVICE ORDER OF RAILWAY CONDUCTORS

Instead of the regular Sunday morning services at West Market Street Methodist church this morning the annual memorial sermon to the Order of Railway Conductors will be delivered by Rev. E. K. McLarty. The services will begin promptly at 11 o'clock. All members of any other railway lodge or brotherhood who are at leisure are invited to attend the service. The trainmen will assemble at the Southern passenger station at 10:30 o'clock this morning and march to the church in a body.

Summer School at A. & M. College.

The summer school at the A. & M. College closed its second week yesterday, the results so far having been most gratifying to those in charge. The attendance has been large and the interest taken by the delegates has been above the average. Able addresses have been delivered by prominent educators from different parts of the State.

Tomorrow at 9:45 a. m., Dr. A. M. Brooks, of Trinity College, Durham, will lecture to the teachers. At 8:30 p. m., R. D. W. Connor, secretary of the State Historical Commission, will deliver an address. The public is invited to all public lectures.

Salvation Army Services.

Capt. H. G. Miller, of the Salvation Army, will hold his farewell service in the hall this evening at 8 o'clock, at which time Lieut. Mackay, of Bristol, Tenn., will be present. The Sunday school service will be at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Open air meetings will be held at 10 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend, especially the night service. Capt. Miller will leave Wednesday to assume charge of the post at Waycross, Ga., being succeeded here by Capt. and Mrs. Lebby, of Greenville.

A Small Fire.

An alarm of fire from box 52 last evening at 9 o'clock called the entire fire department to the corner of Ashe and Lee streets where the grocery store of Hepler brothers was in danger of being destroyed by flames. A gasoline tank had become ignited just outside the door. The flames were soon extinguished.

FIVE TIGERS WERE ROUNDED UP BY POLICE LAST NIGHT

Local Recruiting Officer of U. S. Army And W. F. Stinnett Among Those Caught in Drag Net—These in Jail in Default of Bond.

Police headquarters last night displayed a busy scene. For several days the officers have been working quietly for evidence and in the hour preceding 11 o'clock five arrests were made each of the prisoners being charged with retailing. The policemen were at work throughout the night and rounded up several notorious retailers, a quintet composed of W. H. McCullough, the local recruiting officer for the U. S. army; W. F. Stinett, Sam Jenkins and John Hart, all white men, and Guila Freeman, a negro.

Policeman Causey is largely responsible for the issuing of the warrants against the "blind tigers." While masquerading about in a strange garb that disguised his identity completely the officer purchased liquor from some of the prisoners and secured evidence against the others that has resulted in their arrest. The five offenders were required to give the $200 bail as established by law. In default of this Stinett, McCulloch and Freeman are in jail, awaiting trial Monday morning. The former prisoner is at present under a bond of $150, placed over him by Judge Eure for a previous offense of the same nature, pending the trial of his case on appeal.

John Hart and Sam Jenkins each gave bond in the sum of $400, as both are held on two separate charges.

In the midst of the excitement arising from the capture of the retailers the night force received a hurry call and responding, found that Policeman Hepler had scared a thief or thieves away from an attempt to enter the place of F. N. Taylor, on South Davie street. One of the parties was seen but he in turn discovered the presence of the police and immediately disappeared behind the block of buildings in which the store is located. A thorough search was conducted by several policeman but abundant opportunity was given the thief for escape before the policeman could reach the scene.

Some Recent Deals In Real Estate

Several important deals in real estate have been consummated about the city recently, in which valuable property has changed hands.

J. Goldstein has purchased a building lot on Ashe street from E. D. Broadhurst.

Mrs. Bessie Jenkins is the purchaser from W. A. Watson of a house and lot on the corner of Walker avenue and South Cedar street.

Lee Waugh recently received $4,500 for his 23 acre farm located about 3 miles east of the city.

C. Guy Ferguson has purchased from K. C. Hood a valuable building lot facing the Normal, on Highland avenue.

SCAFFOLD BREAKS; SLATERS FALL 25 FEET TO GROUND

Special to Telegram.

Fayetteville, June 17.—Two slaters fell from the roof of the Atlantic Coast Line depot this afternoon, a distance of twenty-five feet. The scaffold gave way. T. F. Harris was very badly hurt, the scaffold falling on him and the slate cutting a terrible gash across his face. H. A. Tolsen was only slightly hurt as he jumped and landed on his hands and knees. Dr. J. Y. McGeugan, A. C. L. surgeon, was quickly on the scene and conveyed the wounded man to Highsmith hospital where he was found to be badly bruised and injured.

SCOUT

Party Winds up Run Over Central Highway With Good Roads Rally in Raleigh.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, June 17.—The completion of the run of the scout party of the Central Highway over the entire proposed route, Morehead and Beaufort to Asheville and the Tennessee line was fittingly celebrated here today with the members of the party as guests of honor, those here being Chairman H. B. Varner, of the Central Highway board of trustees, Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, state geologist and secretary of the North Carolina Good Roads Association, and J. A. Wellons, of Smithfield, trustee for Johnston county, for central highway promotion.

There was an enthusiastic meeting in the interest of good roads in Wake in the court house at noon and then at 2 o'clock there was a big barbecue and Brunswick stew out at the fair grounds that was a great success. There was a number of speeches out there, principal among which was one by James H. Pou, who enjoys the distinction of having launched the movement for the Central Highway. He drew the bill and it was his advice that finally brought about the legislative enactment that gives every assurance how under the strenuous leadership of Chairman Varner and the other trustees, of affording a splendid highway through the state that will have its influence in spreading the good roads work effectively throughout the State. Mr. Pou expressed the highest gratification at the progress that is being made, but took the ground that there must now be decided and concerted action in actual road construction for this highway to make good the most ample abundance of talk that there has been.

At the meeting in the court house Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt made a notable talk in which he expressed pleasure at the general interest and enthusiasm that his party has found all along the line of the proposed highway. They found only one county across which they could not make their way in their machines. This was Mitchell. But he told of a great meeting of Madison county men, 250 strong that voted that they be levied at once a tax of 50 cents on the one hundred dollars property valuation for road building purposes and of a general determination the county has to put through its part of the great Central Highway. Roads were worst in Mitchell, McDowell, Burke, Catawba, Davidson and Orange, but all these are now alive to the necessity of road building and could hold their hand with Wake, Guilford and others in getting through the Central Highway.

He made a special plea for Wake county to carry without fail the pending election on the issuance of $300,000 road bonds soon to be voted on.

To the same effect and equally as forcibly put was a talk by Chairman Varner who insisted that the eyes of the people of the state are on Raleigh and Wake county in this road bond election and that there must not be such a thing as failure to carry the election. The active advocates of the issue must get out in a spirited campaign for the bonds and go after it with no thought of the possibility of failure. He said the Central Highway is assured and united action now will make it come all the more speedily. There were talks by J. A. Wellons of Johnston county, Central Highway trustee, Dr. R. H. Lewis and others. And the prediction was made that a blaze of enthusiastic construction activity will stretch from the seashore to the mountains and the Tennessee line July 4 and thereafter when the rallies and work are scheduled to be held all along the route.

SCHWAB SAYS STORY OF GATES WAS TRUE

Corroborates His Testimony Regarding Formation of Steel Trust—Head of Big Steel Company Will Testify if he is Wanted—Refers to Andrew Carnegie's Criticism of Gates.

Special to Telegram.

London, June 17.—Charles M. Schwab, of the Bethlehem Steel Company, was interviewed tonight regarding the steel trust investigation. "I have not been asked to testify before the Stanley committee," said Mr. Schwab, "but will appear gladly if I am wanted." Referring to the testimony of Gates Mr. Schwab said "I only know of Gates story of the formation of the trust from the newspapers, but it is substantially true as reported. A meeting with Morgan was arranged by Gates and Gary knew nothing of it. I am sorry that Mr. Carnegie takes Mr. Gates' testimony so much to heart, for Gates is a good fellow. He is very different from Carnegie, it is true, but he is very loyal and I believe there is more good nature in his estimate of Carnegie than the pointed words of the testimony would indicate."

Gates Not Worried.

Special to Telegram.

New York, June 17.—When his attention was called to Mr. Carnegie's bitter comment on him Mr. Gates said "O, that doesn't worry me, Andy is getting old. I told the Congress committee all I knew about steel; gave them the honest truth."

SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY AT WHITE HOUSE

Washington, June 17.—"Aunt Deliah" Terry, escorted by her great nephew, Robert Taft, arrived tonight to attend the Taft silver wedding festivities. Despite her 83 years Mrs. Terry did not seem tired after the journey from Milburn, Mass.

Everything is in readiness for the observance of the silver wedding anniversary of President and Mrs. Taft. Nearly all the family assembled today and the family dinner will be tomorrow night.

The diplomatic corps and three thousand representative guests from all over the country will attend the reception Monday evening. Descendants of many presidents will be entertained. The Roosevelts will not attend.

Mistrial Ordered.

Because he was dissatisfied with a former ruling he had made in the case of John A. Young vs. the Southern Railway Company a mistrial was ordered by Judge Daniels. The suit was instituted for the recovery of damages to the amount of about $1,000 which the plaintiff had lost several years ago when the defendant company failed to properly ship some fruit trees and allowed them to perish as a consequence.

COMMISSIONERS TOLD OF SCHOOL CONDITIONS.

At yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Board of Commissioners Dr. J. L. Mann, superintendent of schools, appeared and gave the members information regarding the school conditions in the city at present and also submitted a partial list of teachers recommended for positions in the city schools. The commisisoners discussed at length with Dr. Mann regarding the capacity of the schools with the new high school building in use. The new building is rapidly nearing completion.

The old school board is preparing to dissolve, the Board of Commissioners being the school board also.

A baking trust has been organized. No doubt it has for its object doing the public brown.

Perhaps we shall find some day that the "man higher up" is not high enough to be beyond the reach of the arm of the law.

Norfolk must be making a desperate effort to keep cool. The Ledger-Dispatch carries a daily injunction to "Remember the ice fund."

Doubtless it will soon come to pass that those who desire to "see America first" will find it necessary to see J. Pierpont Morgan first and get his permission.

An admirer of J. Pierpont Morgan pictures him as a modern Atlas. Mr. Morgan may be holding up the world, but not in the manner in which Atlas is supposed to be handling that job.

Dr. Wiley says that mince pie does not necessarily have to be made of meat. It is clearly evident that meat is not a necessary ingredient of pie, but it does seem that mincemeat without any meat is a misnomer.

The Democratic House is probably willing to remain in Washington during the summer, but the Republican Senate would no doubt be willing to spend the summer at the seashore or in the mountains.

The Columbia State thinks it was not surprising that money stuck to the fingers of a bank cashier in Tarboro. The Wilmington Dispatch would not have the affrontery to be guilty of anything as bad as that.

In Asheville a movement has been started to raise a fund of $100,000 to be used in securing industries for that city. The Asheville movement is similar to the plan proposed in Greensboro by the Meyer Company.

Tourist travel to western North Carolina may be seriously crippled for the summer by the news coming from Asheville and Hendersonville in regard to the activity of the officers of the law in capturing and destroying the supplies of "drinkables" in that section.

"Trade at home" advises the Thomasville Davidsonian. The advice is good no matter where it is given. The way to build up your town is to patronize home industries and home business houses. After your own town comes your State and the same rule should be followed there.

The Columbia State has discovered that most of the society people of Houston, Texas, have South Carolina names. However, they cannot possibly be South Carolina people, as the inhabitants of that State never leave home except to spend the summer in the North Carolina mountains.

Durham Herald thinks the auditorium in Raleigh will be hard to move if the town gets tired of it. In that case it may become a more vexing white elephant than the Greensboro auditorium. The fact that the latter can be, and is to be, moved, shows the advantage of building the Greensboro kind of auditoriums.

TAFT'S SILVER WEDDING.

Washington Saengerbund Invited to Sing On Lawns in Evening.

The president and Mrs. Taft today invited the Washington Saengerbund, the German singing society of Washington, to give a program on the lawn of the White House on Monday evening at the reception at their silver wedding anniversary. By this arrangement they have combined every form of entertainmen which they have given since Mr. Taft became President. There will be a reception on the lawn, the musical program and dancing in the East Room.

Thousands of electric lights will be hung among the big trees and in the shrubbery of the south grounds. The big fountain just south of the mansion will be illuminated and flowers and growing plants will be used in profusion.

In spite of many rumors to the contrary, Mrs. Taft will be present at the celebration, although she will not receive the guests with the President, as her physicians will not permit her to undertake such a task. The list of guests will be the largest ever issued from the White House, and for this reason Mrs. Taft will delegate the duty of receiving with the President to their daughter, Miss Taft.

Two bands will furnish music. The Marine Band will be there with its full complement of almost one hundred players, and the United States Engineers' Band will be present. One will play in the house for the dancers, and the other will be stationed in the south grounds. There will be music from 9 o'clock until midnight. The Saengerbund includes several hundred singers.

Gifts for the President and Mrs. Taft are beginning to arrive at the White House. There are many silver vases, bric-a-brac and other remembrances, a number from abroad.

There will be no guests at the White House for the anniversary, except members of the Taft and the Herron families, and not all of those are expected. Miss Maria Herron, youngest sister of Mrs. Taft, is already there, and Mrs. Charles Anderson, of Cincinnati, is expected to arrive in a few days. She probably will be accompanied by the Misses Harriet and Katharine Anderson, her daughters. Mrs. Lewis More and Mrs. Thomas K. Laughlin, Mrs. Taft's two other sisters, probably will not come to Washington.

Mr. Horace Taft, brother of the President and best man at his wedding, 25 years ago, will come from Watertown, N. Y. Master Charles Taft, youngest son of the President, will accompany his uncle. Miss Delia Torrey, the President's aunt, in all probability will come on for the anniversary. Mr. Robert Taft and Miss Helen Taft will return to Washington this week. Aside from these, it is understood, there will be no guests at the White House. There will be no dinner party preceding the reception and dance.

Invitations to the reception have gone to all parts of the world. Some were sent to the Philippines, where Mr. Taft was Governor; to China and Japan, where the President has a host of friends; to Canada, where the President and his family spent several summers, and to practically every part of the United States. The party which accompanied Mr. Taft on his famous trip to the Orient, the Alumnae Association of Yale University, his alma mater; the "old home friends" of the Taft family in Ohio, and many others, have received cards.

For those who might enjoy a promenade the little roof garden between the White House and the Executive office will be thrown open and illuminated. The entire first floor will be open and practically the whole place will be at the disposal of the guests of the President and Mrs. Taft.

While no special cards to be presented at the door were inclosed with the invitations, every precaution will be taken to guard against the admittance of those who have not been invited. The usual corps of Secret Service men will be on hand, and the policemen of the White House will be stationed at the entrance gates, the east door, the foot of the stairway leading to the reception floor and at the entrance of the East Room, through which the guests will pass to the lawn. —New York Herald.

A Question of Morals?

We wonder after all what makes men make cheap whiskey—or good for that matter? Over in Greensboro Tuesday a Randolph county farmer was sentenced to one year in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta for having helped to make some Randolph corn whiskey—and with the possible exception of the booze made in Orange, the Randolph product comes the nearest to killing at a hundred yards. The clay county man pleaded that he might not be sent until after "crap" season, in order that his wife and children might not starve during the winter. Judge Boyd admitted him to bail at $300, and it was furnished. Claude Underwood, blockader, went home, to work a poor little farm for enough corn to furnish meal to feed his family this winter, and perhaps to raise one or two "shotes" for the family larder. In the fall after "crap season" is over he will report to the warden of the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

"Will report?" Yes, the sort of a man that has nerve enough to set the laws of the United States at defiance and can still furnish a $300 bond isn't the sort that will leave a bondsman in the lurch. "His wife and children will be better off without him." Think so? She took him for better or for worse, and although she got most of the latter, she's probably better satisfied than if she had married a presiding elder. "The country will take care of her." Not of the wife of a man who has nerve enough to make blockade liquor in a territory that he knows is hostile to it.

"What should be done?" Oh, nothing. It can't be helped it seems, but God knows there ought to be some way of stopping it.—Winston-Salem Journal.

Milk Not Necessary in The Case.

The story of the Durham Sun about the fire started by lightning, which could not be extinguished with water but was extinguished with milk, is a good story illustrating the old-time idea among the colored people and not a few whites, even if the incident has no foundation in fact. In Statesville a few years ago lightning struck a tree and set it on fire. The citizen on whose premises the tree was located asked his colored man to pour water on the flames to put out the fire. The colored man declined on the ground that the effort would be wasted unless milk was poured on the flames. Thereupon the citizen proceeded to act for himself and when the fire was put out with water the colored man was almost dumb with amazement to see the cherished belief of his life effectually dissipated.—Statesville Landmark.

Catawba Farmers Are Boosting Greensboro.

The Greensboro Telegram makes note that through the News Greensboro and Guilford are receiving valuable mention as a result of the farmers visit and thinks that the praise of that city and county may make Catawba farmers of a mind to settle in Guilford. There's no better place to live in North Carolina—except Catawba county, when we duplicate Guilford's highways. As for the mention and praise, The News can't publish too much of it. No party of visitors to any city ever had a better time, and every one of those fifteen farmers hands out Greensboro "dope" wherever he goes.—Catawba News.

HIS MARRIED FRIENDS

(By ALVA ARMSTRONG.)

"It is doubtful wisdom for a married woman to exert a good influence over a bachelor friend." says a critic of the world's ways. "and if she could but know how her adopted charge resents her interference in his affairs, and still more her tendency to make her efforts public property, she might grow wise and hold her peace."

Seldom does the married woman with plenty of time on her hands fail to look for some man other than her lawful lord and master with whose affairs she may occupy herself, and 10 to 1 she reports everything she has done to the girl who has an interest in her protege.

From time to time she embarrasses the girl with tales of the struggle she is having to reform his ways, with bits of information concerning his early youth and his business affairs, and with conjectures as to his future plans.

It sounds provokingly intimate to the girl, who does not know that the poor man resents her attention, and that most of the information has been acquired, not from him, but from his unsuspecting friends. Then, to complicate matters, the man finds out that his self-appointed guardian angel is dispensing this news to the girl, and he begins to include her in his resentment, not pausing to think that the confidences have often been forced on a very unwilling listener. To be prayed over openly and dragged to his fate are just what make a man balk and break away, even though the girl may be the one to whom he would naturally turn if let alone.

Eternity.

I saw Eternity the other night
Like a great ring of pure and endless light.
All calm, as it was bright,
And round beneath it, Time. in hours, days, years
Driven by the spheres.
Like a vast show moved; in which the world
And all her train were hurled.

Nothing Back of His Eyes

(By CARA REESE.)

There is nothing back of his eyes, maiden, so be careful. Don't you know that eyes are the "windows of the soul?" Well, they are.

There is nothing back of his eyes. Take a good look the next time his grace bends down into yours. There should be something back of the eyes. A vacant stare means that you will be called upon to be protector, provider and caretaker and wage-earner in general. The vacant, dull eye has no thought of the morrow. There is no stability looking forth from the "windows," there is no force, no will, no vision of prophecy, all is helpless and inanimate. In your bargaining in material things such a dull, unattractive window would not appeal to you in your quest of possession.

Take a look into his eyes. There should be some worthy jewel shining in its own sure light and not the glare of tinsel not the artificial radiance nor a cheap brilliancy and a dazzle and daze in a nervous quiver at all times. The restless, vacillating eye has no steadiness, no settled convictions, no unswerving loyalty, all is uncertainty, hesitancy and ill at ease. There should be a glimpse of steadfastness, of determination, of staunch purpose and the trusty gem of first water, truth and trustworthiness, or the window is but a sham decked out for a brief space for your inspection and fancy.

Take a look into his eyes. There is cunning back of some windows, there are "sells," impositions, the cheap goods masquerading in the guise of the first class. There are windows which show a rioting, a disorder, a topsy-turvy condition. There are windows with "bargains" labeled, but dear at the lowest figure, there are windows which are full of gayly dressed images on parade, like virtues and manners kept only for the public. Take a long steady look into his eyes and if you see only dust and cobwebs, or that which is for show and no lasting qualities for service, or the liking for luxuries and the extravagant tendencies, remember how you would naturally withdraw your attention from a show window whose display was overdone or commonplace.

Take a look into his eyes, dearie, before you decide. If you distrust what you see there, if there be weakness or waywardness, or selfishness or the glint of the tyrant, do not be blind nor wistful, for the goods are not worth your attention. Yet, you must be careful and not be too sweeping in your discrimination. The honest eyes of the world are backward and bashful, the faithful eyes are not always the clear and shining windows, and more there are eyes, like souls, that do not 'find" themselves nor come into their own except through the awakening and true illumination brought about by a refining process of a fond affection. You dare not mistake when you gaze into his eyes. It is something like the show windows again. An awakening, as it were, transforms the unattractive and unsightly into a marvelous strength and beauty, the loyal eyes see through a mist of anxiety and perplexity not quite understanding you and your caprice. Be careful, child, look into his eyes, find yourself.

Odd Items of Interest

The most notable of these curious freaks of nature, "singing sands," are those of the Hawaiian island of Kauai.

When a small quantity of these is clapped between the hands it is said to give forth a sound so shrill as actually to resemble a hoot. Put into a bag and violently shaken these same sands are said to emit a noise strangely like a bark of a dog.

Similar sands also occur in the Colorado desert, where also are to be found those curious non-sendentary sands that continually travel hither and thither over the vast plain of clay. Their movements are, of course, induced by the winds, and when a strong breeze is blowing the silicious particles of which they are composed give out an audible humming or singing.

Under the microscope these sands show an almost perfectly spherical form, so that they roll upon each other at the slightest impulse, a circumstance that also accounts for the rapidity with which the sands travel over the desert.

One theory advanced with respect to the 'singing" of these sands is that it is due to an exceedingly thin film of gas that covers the grains. Gathered and removed from the desert it is said that the sands lose their vocal properties.

"Yes, the girls gave the bride a commiseration shower." "What in the world is that?" "Why, they all told her how sorry they were she was going to marry such a man as the coming bridegroom." "That must have hurt her feelings." "No, it didn't. She knew there wasn't a girl there who wouldn't have given her eyes to get him!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Saturday's Doings in Municipal Court

The crusade against the immoral negro women of the southern suburb was continued in Municipal Court yesterday morning. Anna Brown was the fourth negress to face the charge of keeping a disorderly house. Like the others she had employed counsel to defend her and the case was hard fought. The evidence brought out by the prosecution was entirely circumstantial, and after the plea of O. L. Sapp for the defendant Judge Eure postponed judgment in the case until the session Monday morning. The cases against Florence Hanks and Minnie Williams are continued from last Monday and a decision on the same charge will be given in their cases at that time.

The appeal formely ordered in the case against Bertha Gibson, who was sentenced to three months in the workhouse for the same offense, was recalled yesterday by her counsel. Her case will also come up for consideration tomorrow.

Joe James, an old negro who appears regularly in court on a variety of charges, was convicted, as he said, for "whupping by ole 'oman." He claimed before receiving his sentence that he was so weak from sickness that a general fight was required to administer punishment to his wife. The court held that both were about equally guilty and should be separated to stop these domestic disturbances. Joe was given 30 days on the city streets with the condition that, if a doctor's examination showed him to be too feeble from his rheumatism to work, the sentence could be changed to the same period of time in the workhouse.

Steven Roberts, the white drunk, who was fined $7.50 and the costs in court Friday morning, was allowed a respite of a few days for his friends to pay the bill, in default of which he will be forced to work out the fine on the streets.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

THE PEOPLE ALL

In Chorus Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.

This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found, who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means, a destroyer or killer of "Herpes." Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair, this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. CRIMINAL TERM OF GUILFORD COURT CONVENES MONDAY

The regular June term of Guilford Superior court for the trial of criminal ceses will convene Monday morning. Judge Daniels presiding. Solicitor S. M. Gattis, of Hillsboro, will be on hand to prosecute the docket. There are only about forty cases docketed, none of them being of special importance and the work of the court will probably be concluded by Thursday.

The only case of special interest is the one against W. F. Stinnett for retailing, one against the Red C. Oil Company for selling inferior oil, one against Thomas P. Armfield for abandonment, and the case against Phil Oppleman for receiving stolen goods. The abandonment case will be hard fought, it is understood, and will likely consume an entire day.

Armfield, it will be remembered, was arrested in Galveston, Texas, several weeks ago and brought here for trial at great expense by the county authorities. Armfield was indicted at the February term of criminal court and in April it was discovered that he was in Texas. The solicitor secured requisition papers and had the man arrested. His wife lives in Greensboro. Armfield has employed counsel to defend himself against the charge, while Solicitor Gattis will be assisted in the prosecution. The case is of more interest than abandonment cases usually are because of the great pains taken to have the defendant here for trial, it being an unusual proceeding to secure requisition papers for persons charged with so little an offense.

In the case against the Red C. Oil Company it will be remembered that the company was indicted about a year ago on the charge of selling oil at High Point that did not come up the standard test of the state oil law. The case has been continued over several terms, for both the state and the defendant. It is doubtful if the case will be tried during this term of court.

The case against Oppleman is one in which the defendant is charged with receiving a diamond ring from a negro, knowing at the time that the ring was stolen. Oppleman conducts a pawn shop and the negro after stealing the ring from a residence pawned it at the shop. The police finally traced the ring and the owner identified the one held by Oppleman as the one stolen from his residence.

In the case against Frank Gant, the defendant, a negro, is charged with setting a barn on fire. The offense was committed near Brown Summit some weeks ago and the defendant arraigned before Justice of the Peace Richard Moore, who held Grant for court.

The cases docketed for trial, many of them being continued under former order, are as follows:

State vs. Baxter Shemwell, C. C. W., continued under former order.

State vs. Red C. Oil Company, selling oil below the standard test. (set for trial Monday.)

State vs. Broadwell, continued under former order.

State vs. Grover Small and Henry Dillard, forcible trespass.

State vs. George Suit, retailing.

State vs. William Kidd, (2 cases) abandonment and assault.

State vs. Charles Palmer, breaking into house.

State vs. John Parrish, Ike Allred and Joe Allred, retailing.

State vs. Wm. Pritchard and J. W. Hanner, gambling.

State vs. Charles Blackie and Alex Williams, breaking the Sabbath and C. C. W.

State vs. C. E. Hockett, embezzlement. (This case was nolled prossed at the April term and is simply on the docket for a motion to make I. H. Stanley prosecutor.)

State vs. Henry Edwards and Julius Edwards, larceny.

State vs. John Leonard, retailing. (Judgment absolute for cash bond $50.)

State vs. S. Nick Loden, burglary. (Judgment absolute.)

State vs. A. T. L. Hinson, C. C. W. (Judgment absolute.)

State vs. W. H. Paylor, false pretense.

State vs. John Jackson, Larceny, receiving stolen goods and breaking into store.

State vs. Thomas P. Armfield, abandonment.

State vs. Jim Suits, blockading (2 cases).

State vs. John Clark, retailing.

State vs. E. M. Bowman, retailing.

State vs. Phil Oppleman, receiving stolen goods.

State vs. John Jones, blockading.

State vs. Will Albright, blockading.

State vs. Charlie King, larceny.

State vs. Clifton Suggs, embezzlement.

State vs. Henry Lee, larceny.

Skyscraping Nerve.

'Way up in the air, at skyscraping construction work, on a single steel beam spanning space among the clouds like an aeroplane, a workman lost his balance or made a misstep—so high up he was that watchers could not make out which—and tottered, wavering there to make your stomach fall into your boots while your heart thumped the top of your skull. Then he got a grip on himself, recovered his poise, apparently looked down for a moment on the army of wee human mites so far below on earth—and went about his work again. Good skyscraping nerve. Wonder did he tell the wife and kiddies when he got home to supper? No, not with that nerve.

Do you believe all his fish stories?" "Of course I do. I'm the fellow he gives the fish to when he catches any." —Detroit Free Press.

Peck—"I tell you it takes a lot of courage to propose." Heck—"Yes: so much that many of you husbands never have any afterward."—Boston Record.

Natural Indignation.

A cautious German, who keeps a pawnbroker's shop in Sydney, is in the habit of leaving his daughter in charge while he attends sales to pick up bargains. A Chinaman entered the store the other day to buy a watch. The girl placed four on the counter, and, while her back was turned, John changed the places of the highest and lowest priced watches. He then said he would take the cheapest one, for which he paid and departed. It was not until he was clear away that she discovered the fraud, about which, on her father's return, she told him with many tears. "Never mind, never mind, mine tear," he said; "dose watches was all de same price. But vat a scoundrel dot Shinamon must pe, don'd he?"

Considering them separately and together, one with the other and side by side, we believe we prefer the automobile-hong to the horse laugh.—Galveston News.

Dust Disease.

Now that we have the "typhoid fly" and the "malarial mosquito," science may soon order that not a few of those who experience a blue Monday be described as sufferers from "dust depression." Good physicians assert that much of the mental and physical languor which many people of indoor life report on Monday is due to their tremendous intake of dust on the day before. This powder is full of physical peril. It may actually have those disease germs which set up systematic disturbances, the effects of which we commonly call colds; it may, by merely piling in dirt and filth, so irritate the mucous membrane as to do other serious harm. It is a troublemaker in any form.—Boston Herald.

Borrowing Ranny

Tice started borrowing the day he got home from his wedding trip, and was too indolent to unpack the box of tools to get the hatchet to chop kindling wood so that this young wife could cook supper. He went over next door and picked up the hatchet from that woodpile, calling out that he just wanted to use it for a minute.

Presently young Mrs. Tice ran out with a cup in her hand and borrowed two teaspoonfuls of baking powder from the same neighbor. She had forgotten to order any when she bought supplies. Also she asked for a few matches, as theirs hadn't come. Thus auspiciously inaugurating their career, they neglected no opportunity to be consistent.

As the years rolled on they borrowed at one time or another nearly everything in town, from the minister's black coat for Tice to wear to an unexpected and inconvenient funeral to the Rimmels' baby carriage. The Rimmels' babies had grown too big for the carriage and, as Mrs. Tice said, what was the use of a perfectly useless thing like that standing idle and cluttering up the Rimmels' woodshed, when she could utilize it?

The Tices borrowed their neighbors garden rakes, patterns, scissors, handkerchiefs, silver forks and coffee grinders. They were always just out of lard, flour, chocolate or yeast cakes when company came. Thrifty people got into the habit of retiring to the attic or the cellar if they saw the Tices headed their way. Still, in spite of these drawbacks, the Tices did very well in their line.

Since she was born and brought up in this atmosphere, Lucy Tice naturally accepted borrowing as a matter of course. If she wanted anything she at once cast about to see who of her acquaintances had one and then promptly went and borrowed it. Lucy was so pretty that usually she was forgiven. It was only in the natural order of things then that she should reach our for Sally Petty's beau when her own supply of beaux ran low.

Maybe there was a little spite behind it, too. For Randolph Witt when he had settled in their town had not served his term of paying court to Lucy, as had every other young man. It was tacitly recognized that all the boys must have a spell of desperately adoring Lucy before they permanently bestowed their affections on other girls.

There was nothing startling about Ranny Witt. He was rather lank and pale and weak-eyed, but he had devoted himself to Sally Petty ever since he came to town and that was sufficient reason for discipline. Also Sally had rather prided herself on her conquest, which was sufficient reason for her taking down.

Lucy began it one evening when Sally and Ranny Witt were seated decorously on Sally's front porch across the way. Lucy fluttered down to her own gate in a fluffy white gown and called across prettily:

"Sally!" she cried, "won't you let me have Mr. Witt just a minute? I can't get the lamp put together, somehow!"

Of course Ranny hastened to the aid of beauty in distress, and Sally, flattered by the implication that Lucy recognized her property rights in him, let him go willingly. When he came back after an hour and a half he found it rather difficult to explain to irate Sally. No, it hadn't taken him so long to fix the lamp, but somehow he couldn't get away without being rude.

The next time he called on Sally he found Lucy also on the steps, and he never quite knew how it happened that when she went home he went with her. The next day everybody in town knew that Lucy Tice had taken Ranny Witt away from Sally Petty and the town divided into two camps.

Sally quit speaking to Lucy and Lucy paraded her captive on the main street. He seemed a willing enough captive, too, but then Ranny never could be accused of being strong minded. He danced attendance on Lucy everywhere and Sally went around looking like bottled dynamite. When this had gone on two months the young man whom Lucy really liked best of all came back and she promptly returned Ranny. She told him that it was all a mistake, and she didn't care for him and Sally was really an awfully nice girl.

So Ranny, being easily convinced, trotted back quite resignedly to Sally Petty, expecting to be received with open arms. He got a terrible shock.

"I don't care for you!" Sally announced to him. "You can go right back and tell Lucy Tice that she can keep you with my compliments! I never like borrowed articles that are returned after such a length of time!"

"I—I don't understand you," stammered poor Ranny.

"I don't suppose you do," said Sally Petty, "but that has nothing to do with the case! I bid you good night because I'm very busy. Go on over to Lucy's, why don't you?"

She flounced into the house, and Ranny walking bewilderedly out between the snowball bushes in full bloom, heard Lucy's light laughter across the way. She was sitting on her porch with the man she liked best.

"Girls," pronounced Ranny, as he bitterly struck off toward the drug store to drown his sorrows in sarsaparilla, "girls are a blamed nuisance, no matter which side of the street they live on!"

Sidewalk Question as Viewed From Two Standpoints

Editor The Greensboro Telegram:—In reading your editorial on the sidewalk obstruction question, I was struck with the fact that it is easy to see things honestly from the standpoint of our own interest. I contend that goods are often sold from a street show case to people that would be a long time seeing the same article from the same viewpoint in an advertisement. I also contend that a nice street show case is a mark of enterprise and is not unsightly.

Don't you think the property owner should be allowed to use just a little bit of the sidewalk, since his deed covers it and he pays for the paving of the same, and must keep it clean and free from ice and snow in the winter season? Should the property owner be expected to do all this and more too for the entire benefit of the public?

I contend further and lastly, that nine feet of unobstructed sidewalk on South Elm street, from the court house to the depot, and less beyond the depot, is sufficient.

I simply mention these facts that you might be led to see that there is always two sides to every question. The merchants may not do all they should to make the city beautiful and comfortable, but they some times help. Be reasonable, gentlemen.

J. M. HENDRIX.

Editor Greensboro Telegram:

Permit us to say a word in behalf of the ordinance requiring a clear and a clean sidewalk. If our merchant friends will reflect about the matter, it will occur to them that the sidewalks are the property of the city for the use of all its people and that just to the extent that sidewalks are appropriated for the display of merchandise to that extent are the people denied the free and unobstructed use of them to which it will be admitted they are entitled. As the law operates alike on all merchants as upon all others it can be no hardship upon the merchants to observe it, while its observance will make a vast contribution toward a cleaner and better ordered city.

We candidly believe that after the enforcement of the ordinance has had a fair trial no citizen would think of favoring its repeal. The ordinance in question is a step but only a very short step in the direction of greater sanitary precaution in the display of merchandise that is made up largely of foodstuffs, and in such a step the whole city is very vitally interested.

No reasonable measure having the effect of promoting public health should invite serious opposition and the measure in question aside from being a distinct advance along this line permits the sidewalks to be used as it was designed and intended they should be. In fact to such extent have the authorities heretofore permitted the sidewalks to be obstructed as to make it dfficult, if crowded at all, for pedestrians to pass.

We think the suggestion that a limited portion be granted the merchants for a display of their wares a mistaken one. What makes the present ordinance strike a responsive chord in the heart of every housewife is the assurance which the enforcement gives of the removal of foodstuffs from the contamination of flies, bugs, insects and foul air.

This capital improvement would be lost if the suggested compromise is adopted.

Give the measure as it now exists, a fair trial. Its fundamental soundness cannot reasonably be questione d. It is right in principle. It is for the benefit of all. A measure so grounded deserves to live.

Its sanitary aspect alone is an overwhelming answer to any argument against it.

Special Clearance Sale Of BOOKS

Preparatory to taking our Annual Inventory, we are putting on a big reduction sale of books to last all of this week. The term "reduction sale of books" has a double meaning—we want to reduce our stock, and in order to do so have made great reductions in prices. We begin the sale with just two classes—one class the reduced price of which is 38 cents. In the 38 cent class are books the regular prices of which range from 25c to 75c, including over 200 Alger books and a good assortment of Meade books for girls. In the 37 cent class are books the regular prices of which range from 50c to $2.00. In this class are included many standard works of fiction, such as Dickens, Scott, Elliot, Etc. Also a quantity of Fleming H. Revell Co.'s "Profit Sharing Books," originally sold at from $1.00 up, sold by Revell at 50c, now offered by us at 38c. This will be the biggest book sale we have ever held, and is an opportunity to secure some rare bargains. Sale will positively last only one week, beginning

Women and Society

In Honor of House Guests.

Misses Marie Hunter, Kathleen Cauble, and Willie Anderson, of Charlotte, were the guests of honor last evening at a charming reception given by Mrs. J. C. Penny at her home, 7 Walnut street. The young ladies, who are prominent members of society in their home city, were introduced to a merry group of young people and the entire party was delightfully entertained from 8 o'clock until near the midnight hour by the hospitality of their hostess.

On the arrival of the visitors for the evening, they were welcomed at the door by a receiving line composed of the three visiting ladies and the hostess, Mrs. J. C. Penny. They were ushered into the front rooms of the handsome Penny home, which were tastily decorated with ferns, daisies, and sweet peas arranged in profusion at every vantage-point. The color scheme of pink and white made by these decorations was borne out in the dainty refreshments, which consisted of cream, cake and mints. Punch in abundance was served to the guests by Mesdames Harrison and Gaskins. Never for a moment did the entertainment of the visitors grow lax and the informality of the affair was greatly enjoyed.

WAGNER-YATES.

The following from yesterday's Asheville Citizen will be of interest to many Greensboro people:

A wedding occurred last evening at the Battery Park hotel which will be of interest to many Asheville people. It was that of Miss Helen Yates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter P. PASSING OF ST. AGNES LIGHT

Famous Beacon on British Coast Is to Be Replaced After Centuries of Service.

One of the oldest and most famous lighthouses in the world is to disappear. According to an official "Notice to Mariners" issued by Trinity house, the St. Agnes light, Scilly, is to be replaced by a light on Peninnis head, St. Mary. For centuries it has gladdened the eyes of passengers from the other side of the Atlantic or has blinked a parting to emigrants.

It stands inland on the highest ground in the island of St. Agnes and the first light was lit on the spot as long ago as 1680. Coal was the only illuminant and the light was often allowed to go out. But in 1790 oil lamps and reflectors were installed and flashes of the present one-minute revolving light can be seen at a distance of 30 miles.

Probably one of the chief motives which prompted the placing of a guiding light on the island was the reputation which St. Agnes bore for wrecking in the old days. Many a ship was lured on the rocks by false lights and the tradition was preserved among seamen for many years afterward.

It is stated that almost within living memory a crew who were shipwrecked on the island kept their would-be rescuers at bay with stones. They feared that they would be massacred and could be approached only when they dropped helpless from hunger and exhaustion.

The most famous of many wrecks off the Scillies occurred in Port Hellick bay near the site of the new St. Mary's light. It was here that Admiral Sir Cloudesley Shovel with four men of war and many hundreds of sailors was lost in 1707 while returning from the capture of Gibraltar. It is stated that a sailor warned the admiral, to whom there is a much abused monument in Westminster abbey, of his danger and that he was promptly hanged at the yardarm for insubordination. On another occasion a ship turned turtle and was driven into the bay. Sounds were heard from the upturned hull and when an opening was cut in the hull a number of the crew were found alive within.

The new light will be semi-watched and will be exhibited from a circular iron tower which will be painted white and will be 45 feet in height.

The Sacred Czar.

It is not only the Russian Court Journal which has a circuitous way of referring to the czar. Even in conversation Russians never call a czar a czar. It is not incorrect to use the terms czar, czaritza and czarevitch, but in practice they are heard only in the Liturgy of the Orthodox church and sometimes from the lips of people of revolutionary views. In ordinary conversation the czar is called Gosudor, a word which means Lord or Sir. In the Court Circular it is the practice to term the Sovereign Gosudar Imperator, the Lord Emperor. Nobody ever speaks of the czaritsa; she is always Gosudarinya, the Lady, or Gosudarinya Imperatritza, the Lady Empress.

You Who Employ Men

PERHAPS you have a man working for you who would be worth his weight in gold if you could only depend upon him, but—you can't. Just when you need him the most he is unfit. And, maybe you've kept him on your pay-roll through sentiment—hoping against hope.

You can make that man as big an asset as he ever was. Send him to the Keeley Institute at Greensboro. Give him the benefit of four weeks of treatment here at our Institution. We'll send that employee back to you a new man. We'll take away his appetite for liquor and make him the real man that he was before he started drinking.

Drink is a disease—it needs treatment—but—here at Greensboro we do more than treat inebriates. There is a personality behind our Institution that makes for moral uplift. We not only take away the desire for alcohol, but we build up the physical and mental tissues as well and give the patient a true sense of his own responsibility.

This is an investment—Mr. Businessman, and—it is the best investment you have ever made. Our book will tell you of the thousands of men we have helped. It will give you full details regarding our Institution here at Greensboro. Write for it today.

And Again—Don't Argue!

(By POLLY PAGET.)

Above all, don't argue with a woman.

A woman does not regard an argument as so much intellectual exercise. She regards it as a series of personal insults. If you try to convince her by quoting the words or the example of anybody you both know, she will think you are running down somebody she likes.

If you say that some people never take the trouble to think, she will think you are calling her a fool. If you venture to hint that you don't believe everything you hear, she will conclude that you are accusing her friends of being liars. If you suggest that a mutual acquaintance is not exactly Solomon the second, she will declare that you are only trying to belittle one of your rivals.

Then don't argue with a woman!

But if, in spite of all, you must argue, then argue about something that doesn't matter, something that you both know a good deal about, or better still, something about which neither of you know anything whatever.

Remember that the man who loses the argument is the man who loses his temper. And the man who is the first to drop it is the man who scores. But the man who scores must heavily and deeply, and all the time, is the man who never argues at all.

SENATOR LA FOLLETTE WILL OPPOSE TAFT FOR PRESIDENCY

Special to Telegram.

Washington, June 17.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin, the father of all present day insurgents in the field against President Taft for the Republican presidential nomination.

The word has quietly gone out to all parts of the country and progressive Republican leaders in practically every state in the union are working for La Follette delegates.

"Taft and sure defeat, or LaFollette and a chance to win" is the battle cry of the LaFollette forces. La Follette's friends assert that the Wisconsin fighter is already assured of nearly one-third of the delegates to the Republican delegation.

And this is not extravagant assertion when the strong anti-Taft sentiment existing in all parts of the country is taken into consideration. Let us see if it is: In five states of the Union—Oregon, Nevada, Wisconsin, Nebraska and New Jersey—the people of both parties will have a chance to vote for their preference for presidential candidate.

Oregon will be the first state to vote on the matter. All reports from Oregon indicate that LaFollette will beat Taft three to one. And anyone who believes insurgency is limited to Oregon is mistaken. It exists in every state in the Union.

Wisconsin is the first state to officially start the LaFollette for president movement. At a meeting of three hundred progressive Republicans at Madison, Wisconsin, June 13, the Wisconsin branch of the National Progressive Republican League was organized and went on record for LaFollette for president. An executive committee was named to begin active work of organization.

Letters and telegrams were read from W. S. Uren, of Oregon; Moses P. Clapp, of Minnesota; Johnathan Bourne, of Oregon, and many others, approving LaFolllette for president.

An inspired statement to the effect that President Taft would have the support of the progressive Republican senators was recently sent out from Washington and printed in newspapers all over the country. This article, which originated close to the White House was a clear trick of the re-actionaries to strengthen Taft.

There was no truth to the report. All of the Senate progressive Republicans are opposed to a re-nomination of Taft, save one, Kenyon, of Iowa, and when he made familiar with the sentiment of the people who are his real friends in Iowa, there is reason to believe he will feel that he is honor bound to remain progressive and stand for progressive principles.

United Republicans support for Taft is a myth. LaFollette will give him a real LaFollette fight for the nomination.

It was a long and bloody battle for life that was waged by James B. Mershon, of Newark, N. J., of which he writes: "I had lost much blood from lung hemorrhages, and was very weak and run-down. For eight months I was unable to work. Death seemed close on my heels, when I began, three weeks ago, to use Dr. King's New Discovery. But it has helped me greatly. It is doing all that you claim." GREENSBORO MAN GIVEN POSITION IN WILMINGTON

Wilmington, June 17.—Dr. John Thames, who removed to Wilmington about a year ago from Greensboro for the practice of medicine has been elected assistant city superintendent of health, by the Council upon the recommendation of Dr. Chas .T. Nesbitt, the new superintendent. Dr. Thames is to receive a salary of $900 a year and is to give most of his time to the work, which will be principally in administering to the indigent poor.

Edward T. Russell, one of the three live savers who have been doing duty at Lumina, Wrightsville Beach, this season, was arrested yesterday on a capias from Carteret county, whither he will be taken for trial on a charge of larceny, in Superior Court, next week.

The contract to complete the construction of the bridge over the Atlantic Coast Line tracks at Sixth street, has been let to A. D. O'Brien, a local civil engineer, and he will begin work in about ten days. He was the only bidder, his proposal being $1,400, this being for the work only, as the materials for the structure are already on the ground, having been assembled and shipped here by the Southern Construction Company, of Burlington, which concern originally had the contract for the structure but failed to complete. Under an execution secured by the Des Moines Iron & Bridge Company to satisfy a judgment against the Southern Construction Company for something like $3,300, the materials were seized by Sheriff Cowan some weeks ago, and the city had to give bond for $7,000 to regain possession of the property. The bridge is the legacy of the street commission, under the old regime, and has caused the Council no little worry.

A case of more than ordinary interest in magisterial circles has claimed the boards this week. It was in re E. R. Pickard, manager of the Queen City Cycle Company, who was cited to appear before Justice Harriss and show cause, if any, why he should not be attached for contempt of court because he "obstructed an officer in the performance of his duty," it being alleged that when Deputy Sheriff Harvey Cox went to his place, with claim and delivery papers for a bicycle, Mr. Piskard declined to give the officer any assistance in finding the particular wheel, but told him to find it himself. Mr. Pickard admits in his affidavit that he told the officer to find the bicycle, if he could, but claims that he meant by this that the officer was at liberty to search the building for the property.

Many Wilmingtonians interested in races and fine horses journeyed yesterday afternoon to the new track of the Wilmington Driving Association at "Highwood Park," on the suburban line, for the purpose of witnessing the initial races on the course. Three races were run and taking into consideration the newness of the track and the condition of the horses, the members of the driving association are very much gratified over the excellent showing that was made.

On July 7th and 8th. the first official meet will be held and all the horses in the Pee Dee Circuit of the Carolinas will be here.

TWINS TOOK BOTH FROM THE PATRIOTS

Winston Won Yesterday By Score of Seven to Four—Clapp Got Home Run.

Winston-Salem, June 17.—When Clapp hit one over the fence in the fourth, with two men on, duplicating Schumaker's stunt of the first and tieing the score, it looked as though the Greensboro team had a chance; this was taken away from the Patriots when the Twins added one in the next frame and afterwards the game was never in doubt till it closed with the score 7 to 4. Morrissey was decidedly ineffective, and was touched up for fifteen safeties. Howard, who began the game for the Twins was hit rather hard, but vacated at the end of the fourth in favor of Swindell, who held the Patriots hitless for five frames.

Doak and Clancy featured the infield work. Doyle and O'Halloran played their usual pretty games, but Doak's work was faster than we've seen from anyone except Gates at the third station. Clancy put up the prettiest game seen at short here this season. In the outfield Loman, who was crippled yesterday, made a pretty catch in right of a drive that looked good, Clemens got one pretty running catch to his credit.

SPINNERS DOWN THE SPARTANS BY SCORE OF 6 TO 5

Greenville, S. C., June 17.—A well played game gave the Spinners their second game from the Spartans six to five. Each pitcher beginning the game went up and was relieved. In the sixth Hill allowed three triples and one two bagger with one out and Ferrell went in the box. Griffin gave two doubles and one long single in the seventh with no outs. Cashion went in and the third man scored on a long foul fly. Three men in succession were fanned by Cashion in the ninth though he pitched and won yesterday's game. Score by innings:

THE HORNETS WON FROM ELECTRICIANS

Charlotte, June 17.—Today's game was slow and uninteresting. Hankie outpitched Hayes, being effective at all times. Hayes pitched good game but was ineffective with men on. Seigfried, the Hornet's new short got two hits out of three times at bat. Coutts got a triple. McMillan, Agnew, Seigfried and Brannon starred in the field.

Miner's Terrible Experience.

For nine hours a Sunderland (Scotland) miner named Morrison was exposed to the icy blasts and drenching spray of the North Sea during a recent storm. Although warned of the danger, he ventured along a pier and began fishing with a line. Gradually the tide rose, and, driven by a strong wind, the waves began rolling over the pier between him and the shore. Fishermen went out in a boat, and urged him to throw his fishing line to them so that they could give him a rope and drag him aboard, but he would not risk it. He was in danger of being washed off, and to prevent it, attached his suspenders to the ironwork. At midnight the tide had gone down sufficiently to allow the dockmen to venture along the pier. They found the man benumbed with cold and nearly dead from exposure.

Always Something.

"That will save you money on your daughter's outfit."

Proximity Defeats Edgeville.

Yesterday afternoon at the old ball park the Proximity team defeated the team from Edgeville by the score of four to one. The game was featured by the work of the pitchers for each team. Caviness and Nelson were in the points for Proximity, while Dagenhart and Garner did the battery work for Edgeville.

What Folk-Songs Are.

One of the finest pleasures in the world is derived from singing. Even savages make an effort to sing by uttering weird notes as they beat on queer drums and dance around their war fires. In ancient times before there were any pianos, says a writer in St. Nicholas, people sang sometimes to the clapping of their hands, and often to the accompaniment of crude instruments which looked like old-fashioned guitars, violins or harps. Their songs told of battles, love, harvest time, hunting and other events in their lives. Before men knew how to write and print music songs were preserved by being treasured in the memory of the people. Every country had its own peculiar songs which were passed down from father to son, sometimes through hundreds of years. In more modern times interested people have from time to time printed collections of these songs of the different nations, and nowadays there are many enthusiastic collectors who are printing these songs so that we may all know them. This kind of music is called folk-songs. These include the songs which the "folk" or people sing and treasure in their hearts and memory.

Tall Australian Trees.

Australia claims to have the tallest tree in the world. It has long been thought that to California belongs this distinction, but while California trees are of gigantic dimensions they do not come up to Australia's eucalyptus trees. The tallest tree in California yet discovered was found by actual measurement to be 340 feet high. Australia's record tree can beat this by 140 feet. Baron Mueller (formerly government botanist of Victoria) recently measured the giant where it grew at Blacks Spur, ten miles from Healesville, and found it to be 480 feet. This tree was 81 feet in girth near the root.
